- Diagnostic Imaging Services Offered at Riverside Health Care

- Ultrasound
- Echocardiogram

- CT Scan (Computed Tomography)
- MRI (Magnetic Resonance Imaging)
- Discussion took place regarding echocardiograms. A. Faragher confirmed this will come January 2027. She shared she hopes to have a second echocardiogram machine and has put a request on the 2027 capital list.
- Further discussion took place regarding bone density scans. A. Faragher noted we do not currently have this however, this can be explored. Henry confirmed we can explore this however, we will need to look at the demand and volumes, staffing, and we will need to look at the equipment required to justify pursuing this initiative.
- Conversation ensued around the MRI and the value this will bring to our district. A. Faragher shared our equipment is the newest available, confirming we went with Siemens which is the leading vendor. The equipment is the highest rated MRI unit there is currently. She noted she expects others from the district will travel here for an MRI if required. We are very excited to bring this equipment to our district. H. Gauthier shared the original recommendation was there to be only one other MRI unit outside of Thunder Bay and Sioux Lookout Meno Ya Win Health Centre was suggested. However, we pushed to be considered to receive one as well and were approved. Our site will be the last site to be up and running due to the construction needed to accommodate the unit. A. Faragher noted the MRI will run currently Monday to Friday, 8:00 am – 4:00 pm, confirming this will be re-evaluated after that. H. Gauthier shared this will be based on demand and staffing. H. Gauthier reported the region is ensuring access to an MRI by booking through a central regional booking centre. A. Faragher shared the new radiology units for LVGH and Rainy River are the same units which will assist with staffing and coverage. The images are excellent and confirmed these units are also through the Siemens vendor.
- Discussion occurred around where lab specimens/tests are shipped to and A. Faragher confirmed they are sent to Kenora.

D. Clifford thanked A. Faragher for attending. A. Faragher exited the meeting.

5. Patient / Resident Safety Moment

J. Ogden shared the following patient story regarding “A Journey Through Decline, Vulnerability, and the Gaps Between Systems”:

A patient experienced significant cognitive decline related to substance use, leading to an inability to live safely and independently despite initial stabilization and community supports. After discharge, conditions quickly deteriorated, resulting in unsafe living circumstances, a fire incident, and increased risk to both the patient and others. The case highlights the challenges of balancing autonomy with safety and the need for coordinated care and appropriate long-term support for individuals with complex cognitive, mental health, and social needs.

Discussion took place around gaps and there being no escalation path. J. Ogden discussed pathways and the consequences of the individual being evicted. She noted this is a reality and unfortunately not a happy ending and not an isolated case.

D. Harris shared the following patient story regarding “Long-lasting impact”:

Having family feedback that reflects the values RHC strives to uphold is one of the most rewarding feedback the leadership team can receive. While we don't often get to see the care firsthand; feedback and the complaints, concerns and compliments process keep us aware of the environment and its impact on staff, patients, and families. This story reflects compassion, patience, dignity, and most importantly it is person-centered. A family member's father was admitted for heart issues and the family member shared feedback about the impact one nurse made to their father's care as well as the positive impact on the family.

The nurse made a significant difference in my father's recovery and in our family's experience during a very stressful time. Even after being discharged, my father continued to talk about her and the positive impact she had on him. I wanted to ensure that her exceptional work, compassion, and influence were acknowledged. She is truly a nurse who changes lives. Please extend our heartfelt gratitude to her if possible.

D. Harris noted the role that leaders play in creating person-centred environments is crucial. Leaders need to champion this approach to ensure it is ingrained in the environment. They do this through role modeling organizational values with a strong expectation of staff to do the same. Sharing feedback with staff, creating opportunities for patients & families to directly share their experience will lead to safer, healthier environments that promote independence and fosters respect. D. Harris noted the importance in providing positive feedback to staff as well as when there are concerns and ways to improve.

Discussion took place regarding the website, specifically highlighting the "Thank a Staff Member" on the home page and it was questioned how often it is used. J. Ogden confirmed we have received a few "Thank You's".

D. Clifford thanked both J. Ogden and D. Harris for sharing these stories.
